

Celebrating International Women's Day 2025

In celebration of International Women's Day, we asked several women in our organisation about their experiences working in the building services industry.

Juanita Charles

Mobilisation & Contracts Administrator

I first started with Jaguar as Site Administrator at Kings Place, where I quickly became part of the team. I have since changed roles and am now Mobilisation & Contracts Administrator at head office. The role is a lot more in-depth and brings new meaning to the term 'multitasking'. I am grateful for the growth opportunities that Jaguar offers and I have felt fully supported by my team in both roles.

Tilly May

Apprise Coordinator

I joined Jaguar in November 2020 as a Roving Administrator, travelling to three or four different sites each week. I loved exploring London, meeting the site teams and seeing a handful of our buildings, but I also craved a new challenge.

When a Contract Administrator role at head office opened in November 2021, I jumped at the chance to join the team in Business Unit 1. This role allowed me to connect with new colleagues and build friendships, expand my knowledge of the business and develop new skills.

In May 2024, I was thrilled to be offered a new position focused on our reporting system, Apprise, providing support, creating user-friendly guides, and more. I look forward to my future in this role and helping enhance Apprise even further.

Working at Jaguar has been incredibly rewarding, helping me grow and meet amazing people along the way.

Georgia Crosthwaite

Contracts Support Manager

When I started with Jaguar in 2019 as a Roving Administrator, the engineering industry was completely new to me. Over the past six years, I have developed my skills and experience, eventually growing into my role as Contracts Support Manager. Working as a woman in this field has been empowering, requiring resilience and determination to break barriers in a traditionally male-dominated industry.

Lauren Jackaman

Senior Health & Safety Administrator

I joined Jaguar in 2019 and have recently celebrated my six-year anniversary with the business. Over the years, my role has developed into a more technical position rather than being solely office-based.

Since achieving my NEBOSH General Certificate, I now attend site visits to complete audits and inspections, both on my own and to support the Advisors. This was daunting at first, but I really enjoy it now!

I also assist the team by creating COSHH assessments and noise assessments, investigating accidents and incidents, assisting with H&S accreditation submissions and training Site Managers on the H&S functions of Apprise, our internal management system.

I am proud to be a woman working for a company like Jaguar. It's really inspiring to see the increase in women choosing to pursue careers in the engineering and building maintenance sector. As a business, we look forward to welcoming more female engineers into the industry!

Andrea Harris

Contract Administrator

When I look around Jaguar, I see that women have the chance to aspire. Wishing a day filled with love, laughter and appreciation to every woman who continues to make remarkable impact and remember that “the rise of women is not about the fall of men”.
